OFFICIAL BALLOT

American Film Institute is grateful to for their support of AFI's ongoing celebration of the cinema centennial.

AFI's 10 TOP 10

America's Greatest

Animated, Fantasy, Gangster, Sci-Fi, Western, Sports, Mystery, Romantic Comedy, Courtroom Drama and Epic Movies

AFI has compiled this ballot of 500 movies (50 per genre) to aid your selection process. Due to the extraordinary subjective nature of this process, you will no doubt find that AFI's scholars and historians have been unable to include some of your favorite movies in this ballot, so AFI encourages you to utilize the spaces it has included for write-in votes.

AFI asks jurors to consider the following in their selection process:

CRITERIA

FEATURE-LENGTH FICTION FILMS

Narrative format, typically over 60 minutes in length.

AMERICAN FILM

MAJOR AWARD WINNER

ANIMATED

“Animation isn't the illusion of life—it is life!”

— Chuck Jones

AFI defines “animated” as a genre in which the film’s images are primarily created by computer or hand and the characters are voiced by actors.

A skillful combination of caricature and artistry, animation amplifies reality, offering stories that are visually stylized, but emotionally truthful. Whether it’s a minimalist black squiggle or a full-blown tour-de-force of color and movement, animation allows imaginary characters and inanimate objects to spring vividly to life.

FANTASY

“Still round the corner there may wait, a new road or a secret gate.”

— J. R. R. Tolkien

AFI defines “fantasy” as a genre where live-action characters inhabit imagined settings and/or experience situations that transcend the rules of the natural world.

By presenting dreamlike realms where fairies flourish, witches scheme and pigs fly, fantasy demands that audiences believe in magic and hope for wishes to come true.

GANGSTER

“You can go a long way with a smile. You can go a lot further with a smile and a gun.”

— Al Capone

AFI defines the “gangster film” as a genre that centers on organized crime or maverick criminals in a twentieth century setting.

Profit-minded and highly entrepreneurial, the American gangster is the dark side of the American dream. The gangsters’ lifestyles are portraits in extremes, with audiences cheering their excesses and reveling in their demise.

SCIENCE FICTION

“Sometimes I think we're alone in the universe, and sometimes I think we're not. In either case the idea is quite staggering.”

— Arthur C. Clarke

AFI defines “science fiction” as a genre that marries a scientific or technological premise with imaginative speculation.

Whether it's a flying saucer whirling through space or a gleaming city on a distant planet, at the core of all science fiction is the provocative question, “What if...?” Science fiction presents stories and situations that tap our brightest hopes and darkest fears about what might, one day, turn out to be true.

WESTERN

“The Old West is not a certain place in a certain time; it's a state of mind.”

— Tom Mix

AFI defines “western” as a genre of films set in the American West that embodies the spirit, the struggle and the demise of the new frontier.

Brimming with subtext and mythology, westerns offer iconic images of a time gone by and perhaps a time that never was. A man of action with an unspoken code of honor, the western hero faces gun-toting opponents, hostile natives, lawless towns, the harsh forces of nature, and the encroachment of civilization. But the westerner keeps going, drawn to the freedom of the open plains and the promise of a new life.

SPORTS

"It ain't over 'til it's over."

— Yogi Berra

AFI defines "sports" as a genre of films with protagonists who play athletics or other games of competition.

Whether smashing a ball into the outfield, landing a right hook in the final round or crossing a finish line to the roar of a crowd, sports movies create myths and larger-than-life heroes. The stakes in sports may be simple—someone wins and someone loses—but cheering for a character who faces adversity and aims for the top is an exhilarating reminder of the power of the human spirit.

MYSTERY

“Where there is mystery, it is generally suspected there must also be evil.”

— Lord Byron

AFI defines “mystery” as a genre that revolves around the solution of a crime.

Steeped in the unpredictability of human nature and wrapped in a tangle of plot twists, mysteries inhabit a world where the secrets are dark and the agendas well hidden. Unlike the open-endedness that characterizes so much of real life, a movie mystery delivers the ultimate satisfaction of a solution in the final reel.

ROMANTIC COMEDY

“One is very crazy when in love.”

— Sigmund Freud

AFI defines “romantic comedy” as a genre in which the development of a romance leads to comic situations.

Romantic comedy spares no one in chronicling the horror and humiliation, the hope and despair, the agony and ecstasy of Cupid’s arrow. Wrapped in fantasy and charm, laced with funny little truths about the human condition, romantic comedies remind us that we’re all susceptible to that crazy thing called love.

COURTROOM DRAMA

“Justice has nothing to do with what goes on in a courtroom;
justice is what comes out of a courtroom.”

— Clarence Darrow

AFI defines “courtroom drama” as a genre of film in which a system of justice plays a critical role in the film’s narrative.

Innocent until proven guilty. These four words inspire stories where the outcome may be the difference between life and death. The drama inherent in the theatre of a courtroom—the accused enters, prosecution and defense state their case, and a jury deliberates—all build to the moment when a verdict is read.

EPIC

"I came, I saw, I conquered."

— Julius Caesar

AFI defines "epic" as a genre of large-scale films set in a cinematic interpretation of the past. Their scope defies and demands—either in the mode in which they are presented or their range across time.

A bloody sword fight in an ancient coliseum; carnage on an open battlefield; a country on the eve of revolution. With sweeping interpretations of turbulent times, epics depict characters that, whether nobly heroic or shamefully depraved, are living life on the grandest of scales.
